This local-review notice describes information handled by the current Web4U application. Final recipient, retention, tracking, and individual-rights disclosures require review before approval.

Information may include Account identifiers and verified email, authentication session cookies, business and Site details, source URLs, owner-provided photos and other files, contact information, descriptions and notes, support or refund requests, and billing records such as payment status, currency, amount, and payment-provider reference identifiers. A Site request may also include an IP address, browser user-agent string, and a Cloudflare Turnstile challenge token.

Supabase provides the current Account authentication/session service. Cloudflare Turnstile provides the current security challenge. Stripe processes payment details for checkout; Web4U Studio stores transaction and provider reference records and does not store the full card number or card security code in its own application records.

Information is used to provide and support the requested site service, maintain Accounts and sessions, process and record payments, respond to Support requests, and protect the service. The exact categories of recipients, hosting and storage providers, retention periods, cross-site tracking and Do Not Track handling, and processes for access or correction requests remain review items. This notice does not claim that analytics or tracking is absent.
